Maui Preparing Its Welcome For The Cape Town

Entertainment Program Outlined And Considered And Plans To Go Forward With Further Advices Today

Plans for the reception and entertainment of officers and men from the British warship Cape Town were further considered at a meeting of the Trustees of the Maui Chamber of Commerce yesterday and will take further form today following expected advices from Hilo as to numbers to be expected, more definite advices as to time the vessel is to reach Kahului and on several other points.

It is expected that the Cape Town will reach Kahului either Monday afternoon or night. If she arrives at night she will probably lie outside until morning.

Program Outlined

Should she arrive on Monday afternoon it is thought that it will be too late to take up entertainment ashore, Tuesday and Wednesday will be given over to that. Automobile transportation will be furnished by Maui citizens. John McLaren has promised to look after that on the first and second days. He, Ralph Wilson and Harry Holt are the transportation committee.

Wilson is taking up with taxi drivers the matter of reduced rates for all men in uniform. There are to be special trains secured to run from Kahului to Hilo both days so that the enlisted men may visit the canneries. In Kahului the Community House will be a headquarters where there will be tables, writing material, etc., and some amusement. Wailuku Gym and tank will be open to them during their stay and it is expected that Puunene tank and tennis courts will also be placed at their disposal. Soccer games are being arranged at the Fair Grounds for both Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon. J. Garcia and the sports committee have been arranging that.

Some evening entertainment is expected for the enlisted men and that subject was referred to the entertainment committee and J. Garcia, chairman of the sports committee of the Fair and Racing Association.

Dinner For Officers

For the officers it is planned to give a dinner on Tuesday night and the committee named to arrange it and bring an attendance of Chamber members is composed of D. C. Lindsay, H. K. Duncan and H. B. Penhalow.

If any of the officers desire to make a trip to the Crater arrangements will be made by the promotion committee of the chamber for such a trip.

In the absence of official advices as to U. S. vessels being here no consideration of the subject was given by the committee. If it is found they are coming as it is reported they will, changes of plans will be made in the entertainment program.

Residents are asked to display flags.

Small Boat Landing At Mala To Be Built

Tenders are being sought for material for and construction of a boat landing at Mala wharf and the advertisement for bids appears in this issue of Maui News. Bids are to be opened in Honolulu one week from next Tuesday.

Construction of a boat landing appears to indicate that the Inter-Island will stand fast to its determination, at least so far as the Haleakala is concerned, not to come alongside of Mala wharf to land passengers but will anchor a short distance off the wharf and land passengers from small boats as has been the custom at Lahaina.

In the budget of the Harbor of the Commission there is an appropriation for $100,000 to the wharf to enable steamers to tie up head or stern to the prevailing currents and it is hoped that with such additional construction the Inter-Island will use the structure.

Many Fans Attend Basketball Games

Maui Hi School and the Kahului quintets were victors in the double-header of basketball played on the Wailuku gym floor last night, before a good crowd.

Fast and clean play and a noticeable improvement of good sportsmanship over the contests of last year were the features of the evening.

Eight Naval Craft To Come To Kahului Monday; Out Tuesday

Prior to and during the first day of the visit of the Cape Town Kahului Harbor will have a visit from eight United States Navy craft. There will be the Sea Gull and seven subs and they will arrive on Monday and depart Tuesday. Official news of the coming of the fleet was received today by Captain Parker, harbor master. It confirms reports that have been in circulation for the past two or three days.

The visit of the United States war craft is not connected with that of the British war ship and it is a coincidence that they will be here at the same time it is said. It is reported they are merely out for practice.

After the arrival of the fleet on Monday it can be determined whether there will have to be made any changes of plans by the committee in charge of entertainment during the Cape Town's stay. The report to Captain Parker does not say what time the fleet will sail on Tuesday.

SEASON ALMOST PAU Lahaina vs Kahului Tomorrow PLENTY EXCITEMENT

The football season on Maui is almost pau. But there will be plenty of excitement on the gridiron before the final curtain is rung down. The last game of the islands championship series, although the title has already been taken by the undefeated Pala squad, will be played between the Lahaina and Kahului teams on the Lahaina Athletic Field tomorrow afternoon at half past two.

Regardless of the championship being won, considerable interest centers around the coming game because of the existing "eternal triangle." Should the Buffalublu be able to deliver the goods tomorrow afternoon and emerge from the fray victorious over the strong Harbor Town squad, there will be the triple tie for third place. Wailuku has finished its schedule with one game won and two lost. Kahului at present holds second position having won and lost a game. Lahaina, having suffered two straight losses, has the one chance left to save itself from ignominious defeat.

On the other hand, should the Red and Blue retreat their journeying steps across the Pali, victors, it will have convincingly prove that the "wise guy's" who early in the season predicted them to finish fourth for the very good reason that there was not five teams entered in the league were not quite correct in their prophecy.

Teachers Association Of Hilo Passes Strong Resolutions Against Taking Free Education Away

(Special Correspondence from E. A. Brown.)

HILO, Dec. 14.—At a meeting of the Hilo Teachers' Union on Saturday, December 9, 1922, the matter of the limitation of free public school education was considered. It has been reported from time to time that an effort will be made at the next session of the Territorial Legislature, to require pupils to pay the cost of their education after they have reached the sixth grade. It is felt that any such curtailment of free public school education and compulsory attendance will result disastrously to the government of Hawaii and to the educational interests of our Territory.

Would Be Step Back

It is recognized throughout the United States that the school system of a district is an index to the intellectuality of its people. Hawaii stands well at the present time in comparison with the other divisions of the United States, but such a curtailment, as has been suggested, of the education of our boys and girls, would at once relegate us to the bottom of the list. There is no other state or territory within our domain that assesses the cost of elementary or high school education to the pupils being educated. In fact, the pupils are considered the wards of the government, and as such it is to the interest of the government to educate them. Those districts which have advanced education the most have produced the most wealth per capita. States have so recognized this principle that they have provided extension schools and advanced the years of compulsory attendance. Our best states at the present time require pupils to attend school until they are eighteen years old. The view of the Hilo Teachers' Union on this matter is expressed in the following resolution which was adopted by unanimous vote:

Resolutions Adopted

The committee on educational policies offers the following resolution: Whereas, the success of our republican form of government rests upon the intelligence and morality of the governed, and the development of intelligence and morality rests on the foundation of free and compulsory public school education, and

Whereas, any attempt to limit or hinder free public school education will have a tendency to destroy the foundation on which our popular form of government depends for its existence, and

Whereas, ignorance is subversive of the underlying principles of stable government as exemplified in Russia and China at the present time, Therefore, be it resolved that, in as much as every individual in the Territory is benefited directly or indirectly by free schools, we recommend to the consideration of the next Territorial Legislature, legal provision for a school tax of five dollars per annum to be levied on each and every resident of the Territory of Hawaii between the ages of twenty and sixty years, to help meet the cost of free public school education. We urge the policy stated herein for ourselves and our posterity, as a means of securing our territorial government against the ruins wrought by Bolshevism, anarchism and other social diseases resulting from ignorance.

MAY FIND SOLUTION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The Whitehouse authoritatively voiced the feeling that American influence can be employed in finding a solution of the reparations problem, and that while no announcement was now possible, it was said that things may be occurring behind the scenes "that will not be exhibited on the stage."
